BankRI Promotes Christina Boi to Manager of Pawtucket Branch

Veteran employee moves from assistant position in Cranston to lead one of Bank's busiest locations

PROVIDENCE, R.I. – The Bank Rhode Island (BankRI) branch in Pawtucket has a new manager. The Bank today announced it has promoted Christina Boi to lead its location at 499 Smithfield Avenue, which is amongst its most heavily-trafficked.

Previously, Christina served as assistant manager of BankRI's Atwood Avenue branch in Cranston.

In her role, Christina oversees the branch's day-to-day operations with a heavy focus on both business development and the delivery of the personalized customer service BankRI is known for. She is also responsible for employee development, training, and coaching.

"Since joining the BankRI team, Christina has not only advanced her leadership skills; she's shown herself to place a premium on the one-on-one interactions our customers are looking for in their local bank," said Steven M. Parente, SVP, Director of Retail Banking for BankRI. "This is a well-deserved promotion – we're excited to have Christina's experience and talents leading our Pawtucket branch."

Christina joined BankRI in 2013 after serving as an assistant branch manager with Citizens Bank. Prior to her banking career, she spent 15 years in retail management.

A resident of Cranston, Christina is actively involved with Project Night Vision, a Providence-based program that provides activities for at-risk teens during the evening and nighttime hours to keep them safe and off the streets. She is also a dedicated supporter of Junior Achievement RI, and recently recognized by the organization for being among the Top-5 Individual Fundraisers of its 35th annual "Achieve-A-Bowl" event.
